

Homework is the Best!!!

In my opinion homework is incredibly important. My reasons for this are homework helps you keep lots of important facts in your head. You can learn new things and additionally if you do your homework, you will get higher levels at school.

The first reason why it is vital that we complete our homework, is that we train our brains to keep important facts in our head. Homework helps us do this through practising our skills daily.

Another reason why homework is vital to complete is, things you couldn't work out at school you can continue to revise at home.

Finally, if you do your homework you will additionally get higher levels at school, and if you get higher levels you will most likely get an excellent paying career.

In conclusion, all the evidence shows that any support a child can get, in the form of homework, can assist a child to succeed in the future. All my arguments explain the importance of extra revision and the discipline required to give students that extra bit of help to improve their results.
